All you need to know about the 2023-2024 World Cross- Country Tour

The World Athletics Cross Country Tour kicked off with Silver and Bronze level meetings in Lidingö and Dublin ahead of the Gold series' season-opener on October 22.

The 2023-2024 Cross Country Tour calendar is the biggest yet, as it features 25 fixtures from September to March – 15 Gold level, eight Silver and two Bronze.

The season launched at the TCS Lidingöloppet in Sweden (Silver) on 23 September and continued at the Autumn Open International in Ireland (Bronze) on 15 October.

The NI & Ulster and Bobby Rea International Cross Country in Belfast will welcome athletes for the second Silver meeting of the series on 21 October, the day before the first Gold level competition at the Cross Internacional Zornotza in Amorebieta-Etxano, Spain.

The Cross Country Tour once again features some of the most prestigious international cross-country races in the world and will form a key part in the preparation of many athletes who will be targeting the World Athletics Cross Country Championships in Belgrade on 30 March.

After the action in Amorebieta-Etxano, the Gold series remains in Spain before stops in the UK, USA, Italy, Belgium, Botswana, Kenya and Portugal.

Sirikwa Classic Cross Country slated for Eldoret on February 3 is the penultimate race of the Gold Tour ahead of the last event - Cross Internacional das Amendoeiras em Flor- programmed for Albufeira, Portugal.

Message from World Athletics President

Lord Sebastian Coe

My dream as President of World Athletics was and still is to see the Olympics and Worlds go to Africa!

As a former athlete, and now as head of one of the biggest global sporting federations, I have always extended full support to the idea of the Olympics being staged on various continents

If we are genuinely saying our sport is global, then we have to navigate challenges and circumstances to prove that we are all over the world.

It is really important that we take the Olympics around the world. We can't always assume that the Olympic Games will go to one or two places all the time.

We need to engage our athletes better, and also engage and include newer destinations that want to be part of this process.

But then again, the road will not be easy.

We will need to navigate various circumstances, whether they are political, cultural and sometimes even climatic.

We need to figure out a way to go ahead wherein any city can come forward and host any important event like an Olympics or a World Championships.

I am glad that Kenya and Uganda have already taken the initiative to successfully host the World Cross Country Championships.

I wish to commend Kenya for having staged a successful World Under-20 and Under-18 Championships despite losing their bid to host the 2025 Worlds to Japan.

“World Athletics is ready to help Kenya build capacity in terms of the requisite technical aspect to bolster their chances of hosting the world event”

Granted, Kenya's capacity and integration of all different facets that will give athletes the very best, must be attained.

I'm also glad that Kenyan authorities are yet to throw in the towel and are now keen on hosting the 2029 World Athletics Championships, over and above, the Kip Keino Classic and Sirikwa Classic which have become major fixtures for the East African nation.

World Athletics is ready to help Kenya build capacity in terms of the requisite technical aspect to bolster their chances of hosting the world event

Kenyans might have hosted quite successful 2017 World Athletics Under-18 Championships and 2021 World Athletics Under-20 Championships but having a strong technical base will be key to hosting major events.

The World Athletics Council handed Tokyo, that hosted the delayed 2020 Olympic Games in 2021, the rights to host the

2025 World Athletics Championships

The Council sitting in Oregon, United States, also handed the 2024 World Cross Country Championships to Pula and Medulin, Croatia with Florida, United States getting to stage the 2026 World Cross Country Championships.

Nairobi lost out on the 2025 Championships alongside other bidders including Poland and Singapore.

These were four spectacular cities – they all had very different contributions to make and they had very unique assets to boot.

Clearly, one unquestioned asset in Kenya is the love of athletics, the passion for it, and the extraordinary quality of the athletes.

But there were challenges around the national stadium which would have needed a great deal of refurbishment and that was a concern expressed by the World Athletics Council about the timeframe and the quantum of resources that would be needed in order to do that.

Nevertheless, all is not lost.

I visited Kenya and spoke to the Kenyan Athletics Federation and the authorities, and they know that I am fully committed to helping them or any other African country stage a World Championship in the foreseeable future.

One other likely factor in the decision will have been the desire to offer Tokyo an opportunity to stage a major sporting event for its people, who were unable to attend the delayed Olympics and Paralympics staged in their capital city last year because of COVID-19 restrictions.

Using the success of South Africa's 2010 World Cup as a benchmark, one of the best ways to better developing nations using sports is to spread major events around the world and improve the infrastructure and well-being of host nations' fans.

As we pray for a better future for Africa, I take this opportunity to wish all officials, athletes, stakeholders and sponsors a successful Sirikwa Classic in the County of Champions.

Let's enjoy a day laden with entertainment at high altitude.

Message from Athletics Kenya President

Lt Gen. Jackson Tuwei

Demonstrating our commitment to the fight against climate change, Athletics Kenya in 2021 became the first national athletics federation to join World Athletics as a signatory of the United Nations Climate Change (UNCC) Sports for Climate Action Framework, an initiative urging sports organisations to reduce their carbon emissions in line with the Paris Climate Agreement.

The announcement by the nation's athletics governing body came just 10 days after the release of the latest Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) report that concluded that some impacts of global warming are now unavoidable and warned that the impacts will worsen dramatically if efforts to curb additional warming fail.

The report, which UN General Secretary Antonio Guterres described as a "code red for humanity", also reiterated that destructive extreme events we're currently witnessing, such as record-breaking heat, floods, cyclones, wildfires and droughts are being made worse by human-induced climate change.

The IPCC report served as a vivid reminder of what is at stake. We are already seeing the devastating impact of climate change in Kenya and elsewhere in Africa.

As we play host to this prestigious Cross country Gold Tour, we must continue demonstrating to the world that we all an important role to play in matters sustainability.

Kenya has a rich tradition in advocating for the environment.

Kenyan Wangari Maathai, founder of the Green Belt Movement that contributed to the planting of more than 30 million trees, was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 2004 for her contribution to sustainable development, democracy and peace, the first African woman to receive the prize. Kenya banned single-use plastics in 2017 and was an early signatory to the Clean Seas initiative.

While the science has shown that some of the impacts are irreversible, it has also shown that we can still prevent the worst of the climate crisis. But we, as leaders in sport, must act now. We must use the influence that we have to advocate for a more sustainable future.

Athletics Kenya, traditionally one of World Athletics' most successful member federations, continues to commit to the principles outlined in the sustainability Framework.

Being the home of countless athletic champions and legends, and a host of this events third edition, we commit to using this platform to advocate for a safe future from climate change.

We are proud to be a part of the UN Sports for Climate Action and we hope that through our athletes we will continue to inspire masses to demonstrate speed, commitment and natural power in the race against climate change.

Last but not least, we take this opportunity to welcome all and sundry to Uasin Gishu for this great event. May the race begin.

The long wait is over and it's all systems go as the third edition of Sirikwa Classic Cross Country Tour gets underway.

Sirikwa Classic Cross Country Tour, which is a gold-label event, will be the 13th series for the 2023–2024 season.

This year's edition has attracted athletes from as far afield as Uganda, Tanzania, Norway, Poland, Ethiopia, Japan, Belgium, Great Britain, and Germany making it one of the biggest events on the Kenyan sporting calendar this year.

The event will kick off with the 6km under-20 women, followed by the 8km under-20 men before paving the way for the 10km senior women race and winding up with the 10km senior men late afternoon.

Lined up for the day will be a kids and the veterans race, which will curtain- raise the main four races- thrills and spills are guaranteed!

The event will be centred around Lobo Village of Kapseret constituency in Uasin Gishu County, featuring athletes of high calibre.

We anticipate some vibrant entertainment from the athletes given that Kenyans will be using the event to prepare for the Africa Cross-Country trials and the World Cross-Country Championships trials

And with the prize kitty for this year's championship having been increased to Ksh 15.2 million, we can only hope for the best.

On behalf of the Local Organising Committee, I take this early opportunity to thank the Ministry of Sports, the Country Government of Uasin Gishu, our distinguished sponsors as well as other partners who supported us towards hosting this memorable event.

I also wish to thank a dedicated team of my committee who burnt the midnight oil in ensuring Sirikwa Classic is a success.

To the members of the fourth estate who go the extra mile to inform the public about our good sport, thank you for making Sirikwa event a success.

To all athletes, it is time to savor the moment.

Let's strive to run clean and shun the doping scourge which jeopardises the health and careers of millions of young athletes throughout the world.

Doping is contrary to the values of sport and the principles for which it stands: fair play, equal chances and loyal competition.

Furthermore, doping damages the image of a clean and healthy sport amongst all age groups.

Take advantage of this opportunity to play by commonly agreed rules, to behave with fairness in victory and in defeat, and to develop not only the physical being, but also social competences and ethical values.

To all the visitors, feel free to traverse the vast Uasin Gishu, The County of Champions and discover some of our high-altitude touristic site!

May the best athlete win.

Message from Uasin Gishu Governor

Hon. Jonathan Chelilim Bii

Welcome to this picturesque hub of champions! As a county government, we feel privileged and duty-bound to bring you this iconic international fixture for the umpteenth time. Hosting the crème de la crème of cross-country demonstrates our commitment to bolstering sports tourism, clean sports, and junior development, showcasing our world-beating middle and long-distance runners.

Uasin Gishu has produced some of the world's finest athletes, including former 800m champion Janet Jepkosgei, retired athlete-turned-golfer Moses Tanui, the father of athletics in Kenya Kipchoge Keino, former Olympic 3000m silver medalist Patrick Sang, and former Commonwealth Games 800m gold medalist Mike Boit.

Year in, year out, myriad international athletes visit our county for a unique high-altitude atmosphere, cementing the inseparable connection between Uasin

Gishu and global athletics.

Our sporting agenda extends beyond athletics to thriving sports like rugby sevens, golf at the Eldoret Club, football, netball, basketball, motorsport, archery, and volleyball. These sports are popular in schools, colleges, and various county centers.

Uasin Gishu has produced sporting personalities of national repute in other sports, striving to create an enabling environment for underprivileged youth to realize their potential in sports. An example is towering volleyball legend Paul Bitok, a celebrated figure who organizes the Bitok Cup and the Eldoret City Volleyball, important features of our sporting calendar.

Retired sports personalities continue to feature prominently in organizational facets of our county sports.

The Eldoret Rally, one of Kenya's most prestigious sporting events, is a fabled motorsport fixture and one of the country's longest-running events.

Uasin Gishu County is largely cosmopolitan, offering a unique experience and local cuisine. Enjoy our popular beverage, mursik, a traditionally fermented milk variant of the Kalenjin people.

During your stay, visit world-famous tourist attractions, including Willens Dairy Farm, Chebororwa ATC, Chebororwa Wildlife Conservancy, Sergoit Hills, River Soiani Amusement Park, and The Eldoret Arboretum. Explore the Kolol Railway Bridge, enjoy boat rides at Kesses Dam, and visit waterfalls like Koromosh, Asururiet, and Ngara Falls. Discover resorts like Tiret and Kipkaren River, and explore the Eldoret International Airport, Kip Keino Stadium, and an airstrip, making it the region's service hub.

Our robust health service has made Uasin Gishu a progressive medical hub. Financially, the county boasts 21 commercial banks, 108 urban, and 4 rural Saccos, along with 5 public universities, namely, Moi University and the University of Eldoret.

The county's economy is primarily driven by agriculture, with large-scale wheat and maize farming, dairy farming, and horticulture favored by fertile soils and regular rainfall.

Thank you all for being part of this momentous global extravaganza. I wish all athletes, officials, and spectators a great event, and may the best athletes win.

Welcome to the City of Champions

Uasin Gishu County is one of the counties established by the Constitution of Kenya (2010). It is situated in the Rift Valley region of Kenya and covers a total area of 3,345.2 Km<sup>2</sup>. It extends between longitudes 34° 50' East and 35° 37' East and latitudes 0° 03' South and 0° 55' North. It borders Trans Nzoia to the North, Elgeyo-Marakwet to the East, Baringo to the South East, Kericho to the South, Nandi to the South West and Kakamega County to the North West. The County headquarters; Eldoret town is approximately 350 Km from Nairobi.

Uasin Gishu County until 1750s was historical a savannah plateau with plenty of wildlife such as Lions, Leopards, Hyenas among others. The Maasai arrived in early 1600 and displaced the Sirikwa people occupied the Plateau and named it as Uasin Gishu after the Illwusasin-Kishu Maasai clan which was a grazing area of the clan. The Nandi displaced Maasai from the Plateau and occupied the Plateau as their grazing areas. Upon the arrival of the British, the Nandis were pushed to the Nandi African reserves while others as laborers in their farms. The plateau then was Anglicized as Uasin Gishu by the British.

In 1903, the Eldoret area was proposed as a potential Jewish homeland, as the British Uganda Programme. This proposal was rejected by the British Jewish community leaders. In 1908, fifty eight families of Afrikaans-speaking South Africans settled in Uasin Gishu plateau. They were followed by sixty more families in 1911 and more later. The town of Eldoret was established in the midst of the farms they created

After independence in 1963, the County was administered by the Municipality of Eldoret and the Wareng County Council. In 2010, it was enacted as a one of the 47 devolved Units of Kenya and elected its first Governor, H.E Jackson Kiplagat araap Mandago, EGH in 2013. And in 2022 H.E Hon. Jonathan Bii Chelilim was elected as the second Governor .

World Athletics Sustainability

World Athletics is committed to ensuring that its athletics events, which are held all over the world, and its headquarters, based in Monaco, are fully aligned to the principles of sustainability.

This is in recognition of the growing environmental challenges that the world faces today, specifically air pollution, climate change and our overconsumption of resources. Those, coupled with a lack of global equality and diversity, create an environmental and social impact that poses a serious threat to the quality of our lives and communities.

Sustainability within athletics is defined as driving the practices and behaviours of all individuals and organisations developing the sport in such a way that it: accounts for the needs of future generations; provides a fair and level sporting platform based on sound ethical principles; actively involves interested parties and is open about decisions and activities; and ensures actions take a balanced approach to their social, economic and environmental impact.

In April 2020, World Athletics announced its Sustainability Strategy 2020-2030, whose central goal is to make the organisation carbon neutral by 2030.

The ten-year strategy is designed to deliver tangible benefits across the three pillars of sustainability - environmental, social and economic - by using the power of sport and athletics to create a better world for communities. The strategy includes a broad commitment to embrace sustainability principles and practices within its operations, its Member Federations and the organisation of future World Athletics Series events.

The World Athletics Sustainability Strategy aligns with 13 of the 17 UN Sustainable Development Goals.

The key benefits of the strategy include:

better management of the sport's social and environmental risk factors; identification of opportunities benefitting the sport and engaging a wider group of stakeholders; more efficient use of resources delivering lower operating costs enabling greater investment in the sport; and wider activation platform for partnerships to bringing significant economic, social and environmental benefits to local communities.

Components of the Sustainability Strategy include a plan to reduce World Athletics' carbon output by 10 percent each year, a switch to 100 percent renewable energy at its headquarters by the end of 2020, the introduction of a sustainable procurement code and travel policy and to develop best practice guides for its 214 Member Federations and its event organisers.

Known as the cradle of track and field and road running, Uasin Gishu County prides itself on its global sporting prowess.

The “County of Champions” in Kenya was revered for growing its wealth from its ever-rolling high-altitude farm-fields.

But these days, its world-famous long and middle-distance runners have since diverted the county’s wealth into the construction of flats.

With a few days remaining to be named a City, Eldoret town grew up as a city of farmers but now it has been transformed into a city of champions who continue to reap millions of dollars year in year out.

The city of Eldoret, known as the capital of winners, has no qualms about its evergreen production line of world-beater!

From sprints to cross country, these athletes continue to captivate the world stage with verve and vigor and bring home gold, silver and bronze medals year in, year out.

This year alone, Eldoret based-athletes have registered scintillating performances in major cities across the world by winning 60% of the races that came before them.

When the red carpet was rolled out in Bathurst, Australia during the World Cross Country race, the Kenyan team lived up to its billing by winning big and retaining their world title.

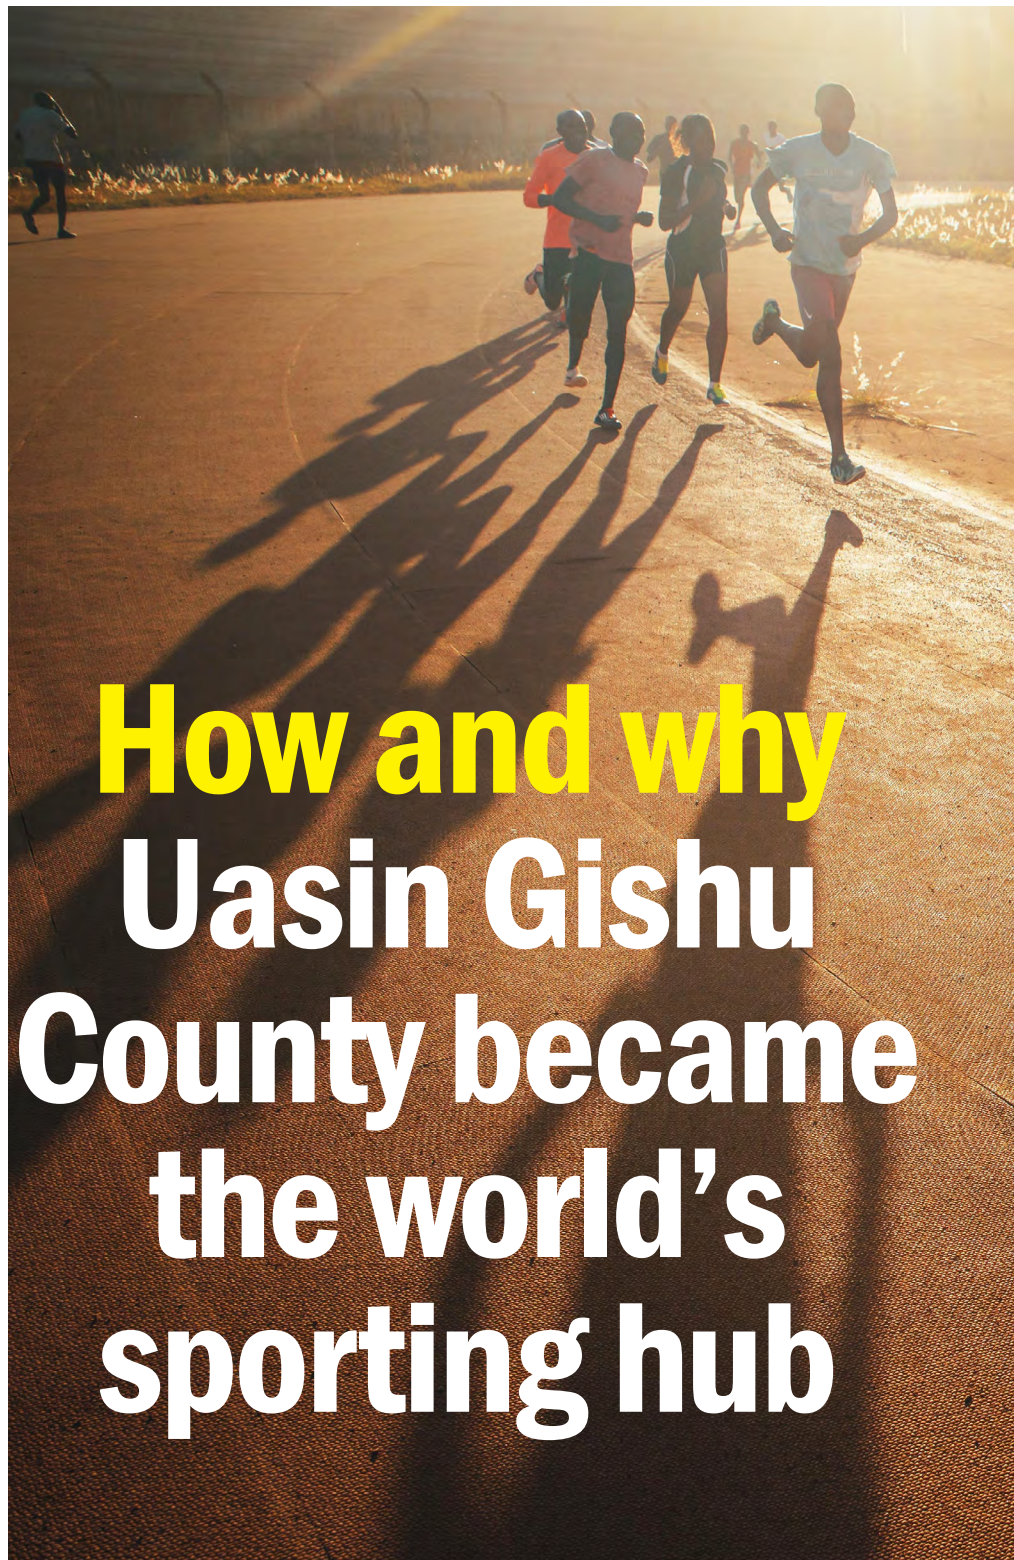

The irony is that Eldoret was blamed for giving their position by retaining the title as most of the medal winners were from Eldoret.

While people from other countries are trying to be seen as Kenyans, Kenyans themselves don’t even have a chance to wear those uniforms.

While you are in Eldoret, you will not be shocked to see skyscrapers bearing names of big cities in the world; such as Johannesburg plaza, Grandpri (from grand prix), Kamariny House, Kiremi Arcade, Komora Centre among others.

Most of the names of these cities indicate places where some of the athletes participated and won millions that they used to build these flats.

That Eldoret athletes have put Kenya on the world map, goes without saying. Any time when the Kenyan national anthem is being sung at these major championships of the world, its because of the athletes from this region who have made it a habit to vanquish superpowers such as America and leading countries in the world economy such as England, Canada and China, just to name but a few.

These athletes train in a high altitude atmosphere and later meet in restaurants to review their performances in the evening hours before going out to decimate the world on their feet. Even after conquering the world, Eldoret has a race to compete with as the international face.

The competition is used as a yardstick to test whether the city has the much-needed experience of emerging athletes. It also attracts runners from all corners of Africa, Europe, America and Asia. Citizens seeing athletes who are mostly neighbors, competing and testing each other.

The success story of running also positions the County of Champions as a breath-taking tourist destination.

Upgrading sporting facilities like construction of 64 stadium and Chagaiya High Altitude Training Camp has succeeded in improving athletes who have invested within the county and away.

The high-altitude training centres attract both professional and amateur runners from around the world offering excellent facilities, expert coaches, tailored programs, and a supportive group of other athletes and a trip to the Uasin Gishu will leave you in the shape.

Uasin Gishu County has identified various sporting events by upgrading, organizing and funding various activities for people living with disabilities. Eldoret Rally, a premier motor rallying fixture on the Kenyans motorsport calendar, is by and large one of the longest running events in the county.

With the objective of identifying, nurturing and developing sports talents and skills, the county staff have been participating in East African Games (EALASCA).

The county has organized and coordinated athletics activities with the aim of nurturing sports talent and facilities in all the six sub-counties of Uasin Gishu County-Kesses, Kapseret, Turbo, Soy, Moiben and Ainabkoi.

Talanta Hela:

Inside Govt's Plan to Monetise Sports

The Kenyan government introduced Talanta Hela in order to rebuild and monetize sports by empowering sportsmen and women across the country.

As President William Ruto rolled out the program, he reiterated support for the sporting industry, reaffirming his commitment to the Bottom-Up Economic Transformation Agenda (BETA) approach towards the growth of sports from the grassroots level to international standards.

The President underscored the need to revolutionize the Talanta Hela Plan, to rebuild and monetise sports, and by extension, the creative industry.

President Ruto also added that his administration recognized sports and arts as a major industry that can employ millions of youths and promote economic growth.

Ruto saluted sportsmen and women who have represented Kenya in the best way possible.

In athletics, which is the number one sport in the country in bringing in foreign exchange, the president, while receiving a team from the World Athletics Championships in Budapest, Hungary reiterated the need to monetize their talents.

"Let me congratulate the team that represented us very well. At the same time, I want to congratulate golden ladies, Mary Moraa and Faith Kipyegon because you are a great asset to our country. You are the reason why Kenya is the best in Africa. And you are the reason why Kenya is number five together with your team and all the others," Ruto remarked.

Sports Cabinet Secretary (CS) Ababu Namwamba has been traversing the country selling the agenda of monetizing talents. Through the Talanta Hela initiative, the athletes who post exemplary performances receive the recognition they deserve.

The CS has remained vocal saying that the Ministry of Sports has re-examined the reward scheme that has been dormant for a while and ensured that world-beaters are rewarded handsomely, be it in individual or team sports.

Three-time world record holder Faith Kipyegon is the biggest beneficiary of

5MILLION

Hon. Namwamba made a promise that every world record will be equivalent to Sh5 million.

the scheme following the three memorable world records she set in 2023, winning double gold at the world Athletics championships in Budapest among others.

Hon. Namwamba made a promise that every world record will be equivalent to Sh5 million. In Kipyegon's first world record, she was handed both the kshs 5 million with a house worth Sh6 million.

Kipyegon was hosted by the President and his deputy, Rigathi Gachagua where the former lauded her achievements and for carrying the country's flag high.

In a rare Talanta Hela initiative, the Cabinet Secretary led a team to visit Cherondo Village, in Tinderet, Nandi County to hand over running kits and cash to Milcah Shikokoti Menjo, the lady who ran Tinderet Mountain Run barefooted with a bra.

The Cabinet Secretary handed her Kshs 200,000 in cash saying that through the Talanta Hela initiative, the lady was given the money plus other essentials and household goods.

"This is a sign of resilience because she had to travel all the way from here to compete at the race. We are doing this through the TalantaHela program," remarked Namwamba.

"We've always said that talent pays and for her to be in this situation, she had to follow her talent. Without talent we would not be here celebrating this young girls' exemplary performance," Namwamba said.

Shikokoti, the mother of one said that she had to walk for 30km from her home to the venue before competing in the 12km senior women and returning back after leaving the one-year-old son Brighton Kipkoech under the care of her husband Josphat Menjo.

The Talanta Hela initiative has revolutionized sports with the major athletic events like the Chepsaita Cross Country in Uasin Gishu County, Tinderet Mountain Run in Nandi County, the Lake Victoria 10km Road Race in Busia County among others.

Sirikwa Classic: A Symbolic Link to a Bygone Era

The captivating tale of the legendary Sirikwa tribe weaves a narrative of power, legacy, and eventual assimilation, leaving an indelible mark on the history of Kenya.

In this tale, a formidable King named Sengwer takes center stage, alongside his two sons, Sirikwa and Mitia. The elder son, Sirikwa, emerges as a key figure, ruling over the vast expanse of the Great Rift Valley—from the northern shores of Lake Turkana to the southern edges of Lake Eyas, and spanning from the eastern escarpment to the foothills of Mount Elgon.

The Sirikwa tribe, under the reign of Sirikwa, dominated this expansive region until the ascent of the Maasai, a transformative era that led to their eventual integration into other tribes.

Despite their disappearance as a distinct entity, the legacy of the Sirikwa tribe echoes through the ages, leaving an enduring imprint on the cultural tapestry of Kenya.

In a poignant homage to this storied tribe, the Sirikwa Classic Cross Country event stands as a commemoration, a celebration of the Kalenjin people, and a tribute to the rich cultural heritage that persists in the hearts and traditions of the Kenyan people.

The race serves not only as a competitive sporting event but also as a symbolic link to a bygone era, ensuring that the legacy of the Sirikwa tribe lives on in the collective memory of the nation.

IMPACT OF INTERNATIONAL ATHLETES ON SIRIKWA GOLD

Faith Kipyegon, a name synonymous with excellence in middle-distance running, made an indelible mark during the 2023 edition of the Sirikwa Classic World Cross Country Gold Tour.

In a remarkable display of prowess, Kipyegon emerged victorious in the women's 10km senior category, setting the stage for a season that would be nothing short of historic.

Notably, this event served as the season opener, signaling a powerful commencement to her competitive year.

What followed was nothing short of extraordinary, as Faith Kipyegon went on to achieve the seemingly impossible—breaking three world records.

The trio of records shattered is a testament to her unparalleled speed, endurance, and commitment to pushing the boundaries of athletic achievement. Kipyegon's performances not only secured her dominance in cross country but elevated her status as a global force in track and field.

This exceptional feat during the Sirikwa Classic World Cross Country Gold Tour reaffirms Kipyegon's standing as one of the preeminent athletes of her generation.

Her ability to excel across different distances showcases a versatility that places her among the elite in the world of athletics, leaving fans and competitors alike in awe of her remarkable talent and accomplishments.

"Indeed, last season was great for me because I had taken a break from cross country events but I wanted to try the 10km senior race after a long time and it ended up becoming a breakthrough that saw me break three world records," said Kipyegon.

Milcah Chemos

Milcah Chemos Cheywa stands as a distinguished figure in the realm of athletics, celebrated for her remarkable achievements in the highly challenging discipline of the women's 3,000m steeplechase

Born on February 24, 1986, in Bugaa, Mt Elgon in Bungoma County, Chemos has left an indelible mark on the sport, earning her place among the elite in long-distance running.

A crowning moment in her career came in 2013 when she secured a gold medal at the World Championships held in Moscow, Russia.

The 3,000m steeplechase demands a unique blend of speed, endurance, and skill as athletes navigate hurdles and a water pit, making Chemos's victory on the global stage a testament to her exceptional athleticism and determination.

Her triumph in Moscow underscored not only her personal prowess but also contributed to Kenya's storied legacy in distance running.

Chemos's journey is characterized not just by her podium finishes but also by her consistent dedication to the sport and her role in inspiring aspiring athletes.

As a key figure in Kenya's track and field success, she embodies the spirit of perseverance and excellence that defines the world of elite athletics.

In Kenya, she has been involved with Athletics Kenya, the national governing body for athletics in the country. Her role in representing athletes within the organizational structure indicates a dedication to contributing to the development and welfare of fellow athletes.

Furthermore, Chemos is a member of the World Athletics Athletes' Commission, which underscores her commitment to global advocacy for athletes' rights and well-being.

The Athletes' Commission within World Athletics serves as a platform for athletes to voice their opinions, provide insights, and contribute to decision-making processes within the international athletics community.

Ibrahim Hussein

Ibrahim Hussein stands as a visionary force in the realm of athletics, notably acclaimed for spearheading the Sirikwa Classic World Cross Country Gold Tour.

This distinguished competition unfolds on his expansive farm situated in Lobo Village, within the scenic landscapes of Eldoret, Uasin Gishu County. Hussein's commitment to the sport and his community has manifested in the creation of this prestigious event, showcasing his dedication to fostering cross-country excellence.

As a renowned figure in the running world, Ibrahim Hussein's legacy extends beyond event organization. Born in Kenya, he made history by becoming the first African to win the Boston Marathon in 1988, setting a precedent for African dominance in long-distance running. His journey from a young runner in the rural highlands of Kenya to a global marathon champion mirrors his passion for the sport and its transformative power.

Now, as the mastermind behind the Sirikwa Classic World Cross Country Gold Tour, Hussein continues to contribute to the development and promotion of athletics.

The event not only serves as a platform for elite athletes but also embodies Hussein's commitment to community engagement and the celebration of cross-country running as a cultural and sporting heritage.

Hussein's philanthropic efforts and support for young talents are not only a testament to his love for athletics but also reflect a broader commitment to community development. By investing his time and expertise in nurturing emerging athletes, he plays a crucial role in shaping the future of long-distance running, ensuring a legacy that goes beyond his own remarkable achievements on the marathon course.

He stands as a beacon of inspiration for those who follow in his footsteps, not just as athletes but as individuals dedicated to the enduring spirit of sportsmanship and excellence.

Patrick Sang

Patrick Sang is a highly esteemed figure in the world of athletics, particularly in the domain of long-distance running.

Widely recognized as one of the most successful coaches of all time, Sang has played a pivotal role in harnessing Kenya's vast talent pool in athletics.

With an apparently insatiable appetite for success, Sang gained prominence for his exceptional coaching prowess and dedication.

His coaching legacy is notably intertwined with the career of Eliud Kipchoge, a legendary Kenyan marathon runner who has had a colorful career so far.

Sang's influence on the sport extends beyond his own achievements as a former Kenyan steeplechaser. His coaching philosophy emphasizes a holistic approach, combining physical training with mental resilience and strategic race planning.

Under his guidance, Kipchoge has reached unprecedented heights, securing multiple Olympic gold medals and setting the standard for marathon excellence.

The pinnacle of their collaboration came with Kipchoge's groundbreaking feat in the INEOS 1:59 Challenge, where he became the first person to complete a marathon in under two hours, although it was conducted as a special event and not an officially recognized world record.

Patrick Sang's role in shaping Kipchoge's career reflects his expertise in maximizing athletes' potential, solidifying his status as a coaching icon in the annals of distance running.

Sang, a retired athlete, managed to win silver medals at the 3,000m steeplechase races in 1991 Tokyo World Championships, 1992 Barcelona Olympic Games and 1993 Stuttgart World Championships.

He also boasts of a gold medal he bagged during the All Africa Games in Nairobi in 1987.

He has also transformed the careers of other Kenyan elite athletes among them double 1,500m Olympic Champion Faith Chepngetich Kipyegon, Hyvin Kiyeng, Brimin Kipruto and former World Cross Country champion Geoffrey Kamworor, Wycliffe Kinyamal, Sally Chepyego among others.

He was born in Kapsisiywa, Nandi County, where Kipchoge hails from and after completing his secondary education, he was lucky to land a scholarship to study in the United States of America where he joined Iowa State University and the University of Texas while sharpening his athletics skills.

Janeth Jepkosgei

(Eldoret Express)

Janeth, nicknamed "Eldoret Express" hails from the Kenyan village of Kabirirsang, near Kapsabet. Famous athletes Wilson Kipketer and Wilfred Bungei are also from the same village.. Janeth started athletics while at Kapsumbeiywo Primary School and took several events.

Janeth is a prominent name in Kenyan athletics and she etched her legacy in the history of middle-distance running with a groundbreaking victory at the 2007 Osaka World Championships.

Born on December 13, 1983, in Nandi District, Kenya, Jepkosgei rose to prominence as the first Kenyan female athlete to secure the gold medal in the fiercely competitive 800m race during the Osaka World Championships.

Jepkosgei's triumph in the 800m race not only marked a significant personal achievement but also shattered stereotypes, showcasing Kenya's prowess beyond the traditionally dominant long-distance events.

Just like the Mozambican legend Maria Mutola who was nicknamed "The Maputo Express" for her track antics, Eldoret Express' exceptional speed, endurance, and strategic racing tactics propelled her to the pinnacle of middle-distance running, earning her a place among the elite athletes of her generation.

The historic nature of Janeth's victory in Osaka serves as a testament to her dedication to the sport and her role in breaking new ground for Kenyan female athletes.

Her success reverberates through the annals of athletics, inspiring future generations and contributing to the evolving narrative of Kenya's prowess in a diverse range of track and field disciplines.

Jepkosgei has been instrumental in guiding and nurturing the talents of emerging athletes, it demonstrates her commitment to giving back to the sport and supporting the next generation.

Coaching a Refugee team from Kakuma in Turkana County also underscores the broader impact of sports in fostering inclusivity and providing opportunities for individuals who have faced unique challenges.

Janeth Jepkosgei's transition from a successful athlete to a mentor and coach reflects a continuation of her dedication to athletics and a desire to contribute to the development of athletes both within Kenya and in the broader context of international sports.

ELDORET

Boma Inn is a 4 star establishment that offers 68 luxury guest rooms having a modern contemporary design with a traditional African touch in different room categories; 2 Governor's Suite, 6 Deluxe Rooms and 60 Superior Rooms. All rooms and suites come with luxury amenities including complimentary high-speed internet access, Cable TV, Direct Dial Up Telephone, all to ensure guests have a memorable stay.

The hotel offers a choice of 6 meetings rooms with a capacity of 20-500 participants and 2 Executive Boardrooms. The rooms are equipped with state-of-the-art audio-visual equipment and high-speed internet.

The Conference Centre provides for a spacious outdoor lounge overlooking the swimming pool where delegates can brainstorm during the session breaks and also cool off after a long tense meeting.

Boma Inn Eldoret has a fully fledged Offsite Catering team to cater for your functions and events.

Boma Inn Eldoret offers an exciting Restaurant and Bar that will cater for the various discerning tastes while offering indoor as well as alfresco dining experiences.

The Sinendet Restaurant, seating about 200 guests, overlooks well manicured exotic gardens and will serve innovative menus and healthy dishes that will take you on a journey through the five continents.

Our guests will have complimentary access to the Zoezi Health Club and Spa which comprises of a fully equipped Wellness and Fitness Centre that will offer various treatments and services including Steam and Sauna, Gym, Aerobics Studio and a Swimming Pool.

We wish to partner with your organization as the preferred accommodation and conferencing hotel while in Eldoret and the greater Western region.

I look forward to hearing from you as well as hosting you at the hotel, 'the inn to be in' when you are in Eldoret.

When you stay with us you join the circle of supporting humanitarian activities through the Kenya Red Cross Society. This is because the Boma Hotels are fully owned by the Kenya Red Cross Society and all profits go back to supporting our local community during times of disasters and emergencies.
